ABOUT BACH

With the Bach Festival veritably upon us, all new record releases will have to be sidestepped and a brief resume of the available discs of the man's tremendous output is in order. Wandering from store to store showed that many valuable items were at hand; but let me give full warning that by the time the influx of Festival visitors has departed, so will the gems from the shelves.

ARIA'S

Several albums of Bach's arias were found. Marian Anderson, great favorite of the Peninsula, was represented by Victor in a collection of excerpts from various Cantatas and Masses. Columbia had a similar grouping of sacred arias sung by Carol Brice. The outstanding discovery of this nature was, however, the two volumes of vocal words released by the Vox Company. Here, indeed, are clean-cut interpretations, accompanied by an excellent job of engineering. For sensitivity of reading "Die Seele Ruht" (Vol. 1) is alone worth the album.

ORGAN MUSIC

The "Three Little Organ Books" (Vict.) were all to be obtained. Those who intend to hear the organ recitals during the Festival will benefit greatly if a renewal of acquaintance with this type of music is made. For the same purpose, we might also recommend the E. Power Biggs album of various selections, including the great "Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor."

RELIGIOUS WORK

One of Bach's finest church compositions was also noted, the Cantata No. 78. This work is sung by the Bach Choir of Bethlehem featuring the solo voices of Mack Hartell, bass, and Lucius Metz, tenor. The group and orchestra are conducted by Ilor Jones. Superb recording and a beautiful experience of the composer's religious philosophy!

COUNTERPOINT

The finest representations of Bach's contrapuntal wealth were found - the Columbia recording of the "Art of the Fugue," impeccably played by the Rith String Quartet. This same work was also available in its original form - for organ - played by E. Power Biggs (Vict.).

SONATAS

A notable undertaking was the recording of the Sonatas for Harpsichord and Violin (Col.). Ralph Kirkpatrick and Alexander Schneider are the performers, par excellence. Here is a piece of work that makes me wonder why there is no harpsichord represented in our programs. Bach wrote so much valuable literature featuring that instrument - and it seems to be all but lost, except through the medium of the phonograph.

CHORAL GIANTS

Bach's two greatest choral compositions were also quite in evidence on our dealers' shelves. The "Passion According to St. Matthew" (EDA) is, doubtless, the most admirable undertaking of a work in this field ever to have been accomplished. The "Mass in B Minor," so familiar to us all yet heard only once a year, has been satisfactorily captured by Victor. This set belongs in every home for deepest absorption of each year's local performance, since the strength in this great work cannot be digested with only one hearing per year.

HENRY KERSH Recital

by H.D.

Our community, teeming with all forms of art except the dance, was privileged to see Henry Kersh in a recital of unusual choice on Sunday evening at Carmel's Forest Theater. This talented young artist has, undoubtedly, worked out a personal philosophy that carries into the patterns of his art.

The first two offerings of his program - "Shepherd's Dance" by Edgar German and Mozart's "Fantasia in C Minor" - exemplified Mr. Kersh's schooling in, and respect for, ballet technique. Here, he approached the Italian style as seen through Carmelita Maracci. This motif was immediately erased by the "Pavane" of Gabriel Faure, a stately court dance seldom done nowadays, presumably because its dignified simplicity lacks obvious daring, a seeming necessity of our era. Classicism was represented in the "La Folia Variations" of Corelli and Bach's "Air for the G String." An unconscious waltz, resulting from the dictates of the music itself rather than from prescribed form, emerged in the Third Movement from Brahms' "Symphony No. 3." Mahler's "Songs of a Wayfarer" and the "Amor" of Monteverdi might be termed as a synthesis of all the arts. Instrument, voice, poetry, dance - all of these were there, while the setting of the Forest Theater itself could have been considered the canvas. Unique interpretation and execution place these two abstractions as the highlights of the evening. Freedom of fugal style in the "Idyll" by Charbrier and folk elements abundant in the "Slavonic Dances" of Dvorak rounded off an evening that should be repeated in the not-too-distant future.

Presented by the Carl Cherry Foundation, Mr. Kersh was sponsored by Mrs. Anne Berg, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Church, Mrs. Carl Cherry, Henry Dunakin, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Herron, Mrs. Dorothy Klinger, Margaret Lial, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm S. Millard, Mr. and Mrs. Ansley K. Salz, Noel Sullivan, and Ruth Woods.

Credits go to Mrs. Klinger, coordinating technician; James Meagher, sound equipment; Maria Wallace, technician; John Chitwood, lighting; Mr. Church, stage manager, and Lois Palmund, who executed the costumes.

The State Legislature appropriated $40,000 for the construction of the conservatory in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park, after public spirited citizens had raised funds with which to purchase the building material.

Fairy Tale Brings Applause

Altho' I have had the blessed good fortune to live in beautiful Carmel for just about 12 months, witnessing "Over the Fairy Line" was my first experience in the Forest Theater, and to Eastern bred eyes it was a feat of beauty to which my words are faint tribute.

The towering trees, the glowing fires, the mammoth (man-created) moths and butterflies, pastel against the emerald foliage...and all about, friendly faces all waiting for the "show"...

Suddenly the great stage glowed, the fairies, gay diminutive dancing fairies right out of childhood's dreamland appeared dancing with the light hearted abandon, leaping over the three frolicsome frogs (Bert Blanks, George Blanks, and Gordon Parker). The gnome, Allen Mitchell; the frisking squirrel, Micheal Elson, and the Lookout, Mark Hildebrand, made their bows - and the Tree Fairy, John Thompson, told the tale.

Bettina (Robin Burnham) looking for all the world like Alice in Wonderland, was the "human" visitor across the Fairy Line. Mother Night (Carol Joyce Hildebrand) seemingly floating above the scene, was her mentor. The stars were her guides.

I cannot, unfortunately, go into detail of the story of Over the Fairy Line - but what grown-up has grown so old, so far from childhood as not to guess the import of the fantasy's title?

Bettina, followed by her playmate Ronnie (Richard Ogden) crosses the magic line into the land of childhood's happiest imagery. Blanche Tolmie has written an exquisite play with the stuff dreams are made of. The choreography by David Eldridge and songs composed by Elayne Lavrans Hopper added greatly to the evening's enchantment.

Our highest praise to Miss Tolmie for her direction and to her assistants: Jeanne Elson, Helen Prosser, Grace McKenney, Karen Williams. To the dance director, David Eldridge. Special tribute to John Chitwood for the lighting, and to all those others who volunteered their services toward a production that will remain long in the hearts of those who saw it.

The Forest Theater, founded by Bert Heron in 1910 has the distinction of being California's first open air theatre. During the past 39 years many stars have appeared against its superb natural back drop. To its founder and to the many talented persons, professional and amateur who have appeared in and supported the Forest Theater, may we add our appreciation. by C.E.

A Pleasurable Tradition

The Carmel Bach Festival, founded by Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous, is a tradition now. It is the kind of tradition that makes living in Carmel a pleasure. Aside from the festival's cultural value and the fact that it brings good business into the village, it is yet another means of attracting the type of person here who keeps Carmel from becoming just another resort town.

No one has ever properly explained what it is that makes Carmel different from other towns, but now and then we can pick out certain qualities individually.

The Bach Festival is one of them.

POLIOMYELITIS

Many people believe that poliomyelitis always cripples the person it attacks. Far from it. Each year thousands of people may have it in such a mild form that they never recognize it. You yourself may once have had polio, and did not know it. The disease rarely seems to hit anyone so severely that he becomes paralyzed. Even when that does happen however, it doesn't mean that he will be left crippled or handicapped.

Forty to 60 per cent of the children or adults who do get the illness in recognizable form will recover completely, or almost completely, without any visible evidence of paralysis. Another 25% to 30% will recover with only a mild degree of paralysis. Only 15% to 25% will be left more or less severely handicapped, unable to use some muscles. But rehabilitation and special devices can do wonders with them. The disease is so uncommon that a score or more recognizable cases out of every 100,000 population is regarded as an epidemic. But polio is a serious disease because recovery takes so long and is so expensive.

POLIO PRECAUTIONS

Even though we do not know how polio spreads, nor whom it will attack, when or where or how to prevent it - there are certain precautions that can be taken when an epidemic strikes that may help check the disease:

GLADYS McCLOUD

When Gladys McCloud first came here seven years ago with her husband, Walter E. McCloud, who as a lieutenant commander was the first line officer to report for duty as the Navy's Del Monte Pre-Flight School, she found it difficult to buy clothes in Carmel for her two daughters, Susan and Sarah, now 14 and 12 years old, respectively.

She decided the village needed a shop for young girls and teenagers, but was unable to open her Dolores Street store until the war ended and merchandise became more obtainable. She opened her shop in November of 1947 - a day she had awaited since 1942.

The McCLOUDs first came to Carmel because the Navy sent them, but they stayed here for that same obvious but unexplainable reason that so many Carmelites have taken root by-the-sea.

Mr. and Mrs. McCloud are both from Seattle, both graduates of the University of Washington. They moved to New York City when Mr. McCloud went to Columbia University to get his Masters degree. Incidentally, while in New York he studied under Dr. Jesse F. Williams, who now lives in Carmel.

They lived for eight years in Hartford, Conn., where Mr. McCloud was on the faculty of Trinity College. He is now teaching psychology at San Francisco City College and is veterans' coordinator of the Guidance and Counseling Department, commuting to Carmel on weekends.

Mrs. McCloud is a member of the Soroptimists and has two major hobbies: (1) her daughters, (a full-time job, she reports) and (2) collecting antiques.

Item number one, above, proves the theory that a job can also be a hobby. Buying clothes for the store, helping to outfit other peoples' children, just being around young girls is as natural for her as an instinct - a mother's instinct, for example.

1. Watch for symptoms that may be weathervanes of polio. Headache is often one of the early signs, other common signs at the onset are sore throat, a slight fever, constipation, nausea, fatigue, listlessness, pains or stiffness in muscles.

2. To play safe, in the polio season particularly, call your doctor when you spot any of these signs.

3. Bed rest is extremely important at the onset. The attack can be made worse if the victim fights the disease and keeps trying to be active.

4. Avoid crowds. There is no way of telling who have the virus, who is becoming sick or who is healthy, unaffected carrier.

5. Don't let fear rule you at the expense of the child's freedom. You can't restrict him too much without doing him emotional harm. In fact, he may contract the disease at home. If one of your children is found to have polio the chances are that the others already have been exposed to the virus. All you can do, then, is to watch them closely and keep them from mingling with other children in the neighborhood or elsewhere. If they don't show signs of sickness within ten to fourteen days, it is not likely that they have become sick from their brother or sister. But they still might contract the disease from strangers.

6. Keep your child and yourself from becoming overtired or chilled since many people have the virus, such things as fatigue, late hours, chilling from swimming too long in cold water, or other resistance lowering factors may let the virus act on the nerve pathways.

7. Do not swim in polluted waters. (Attacks of polio have followed after such experiences.)

8. Keep clean. Make sure that your children wash their hands before eating. Don't let them put into their mouths anything contaminated with fecal matter.

9. Keep garbage covered and screen your house against flies. Flies and other insects are suspect, even though it has not yet been proved that they can spread the virus to humans.

Don't blame yourself or feel guilty if your child contracts polio. You are not responsible for his illness. Since we don't know how polio is spread from one person to another, there is no reason to blame yourself for his getting it. Unfortunately, even the precautions just mentioned are not insurance against polio.

And be calm. Perhaps you can't help feeling worried, but you can keep from transmitting your fears and anxieties to your child. You owe him that kind of help.

Health Officer.

Russian Treaty Proposals
Seen as Smart Propaganda

Moscow Suggestions Aimed
At Germans and Japanese

SPECIAL TO THE SPECTATOR

WASHINGTON—Baldly put, the Western Powers came away from the Paris Big Four Foreign Ministers' meeting with exactly what the Russians wanted them to have—nothing more. It now appears certain that Moscow achieved what was essential for it to get.

Russia lifted the blockade, thereby eliminating the Air Lift, a terrific reflection on the Kremlin's prestige not only among the satellites but elsewhere in the world.

It got the counter blockade lifted, which was hurting it also. And, with great fanfare, it turned the meeting into a power propaganda weapon.

By suggesting a peace treaty for Germany and early withdrawal of all occupation troops, it appealed to the German people. By proposing that a Japanese peace treaty be discussed, it appealed to the Japanese, who are increasingly threatened with Communism.

These are not superficial observations. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who went to the meeting reluctantly, is saying the same thing

Secretary of State privately.

Dean Acheson

● TITO VERSUS TOTALITARIANISM—The State Department, which suffered a stunning reverse in its efforts to gain full diplomatic recognition for Franco Spain, now is going to back the equally totalitarian regime of Tito in Yugoslavia.

The stake, however, is bigger—perhaps world peace.

Tito's differences with Stalin's Communist gang has gotten to the point where Moscow has virtually forbidden trade by any of the other satellite nations with Yugoslavia.

The plan, of course, is to "starve" the Tito regime into submission through lack of industrial goods and commodities. Some sources say that the present economic blockade against Tito's government is as strong as any ever applied to an enemy power.

However, the Anglo-American-French partners have decided that the very fact that Tito is holding out against the Kremlin is enough to warrant support—not only morally but with credits and industrial equipment.

They figure the situation this way: If Tito can successfully hold out for the balance of the year, some of the other—if not all—of the satellites will decide to try to break the Kremlin's grip on their governments.

With the peace of the world at stake, they believe, it is well worth trying.

● LITERAL HOT AIR—All hands expect a speed-up of congressional action. This will not be due to a change of heart on anyone's part but to a change of air.

The Senate has moved into the old and small Supreme Court building while the Capitol roof is being repaired. This room in the old Supreme Court building was large enough in the days of Daniel Webster but the Senate now is having a hard time cramming itself in.

Theoretically, the room will be air-conditioned, but no one expects the cooling system to be very effective along about 4 or 5 p. m. each day.

Too, spectators are barred, for there just isn't room enough for them. The news corps is limited in size.

Senate Majority Leader Scott W. Lucas (D), Illinois, told a reporter recently he thinks that, with hardly anyone but themselves to listen to one another, and with the Senate bathed in literal instead of figurative hot air, action will come fast and the Senate will soon be seeking the quiet green rimmed by home fences.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Stevenson and family, who hail from New York, are occupying the Pebble Beach home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Coleman, Jr., while the Colemans are traveling in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Baldwin of Pebble Beach, who have recently purchased a home at Pebble Beach, have taken possession this week and will remain for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon D. Tevis, who make their home in Sonoma, are currently guests of the Lloyd Tevis's in Carmel. During their stay they are being informally entertained at a number of affairs.

Cornelia Shuman, daughter of Mrs. Martin Flavin, left for Edinburgh, Scotland, this week, where she plans to attend the University of Edinburgh. She will make her home with Mr. and Mrs. David Abercrombie (Mary Henderson).

Mr. and Mrs. Flavin have recently returned from an eastern trip and have taken a house at Pebble Beach.

The Ronald Colmans are spending a few days at Del Monte Lodge, as are the Peter Murry Hills of London. Mrs. Hill is known to English movie fans as Phyllis Calvert.

Dr. Bruno Walter, the famous symphony and opera conductor, his son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. K.L. Lindt of Beverly Hills, are vacationing at Del Monte Lodge at present.

Mrs. Charles Thieriot, of San Mateo, is spending a fortnight at Del Monte Lodge while her parents — the Edward J. Tobins and vacationing at the popular resort.

Plans are well under way for the Fourth Annual Pebble Beach Horse Show to be held at the Pebble Beach Stables, Sunday, August 7.

As a warm-up for the Horse Show, the same committee has scheduled a gymkhana for Wednesday afternoon, July 20. Such events as bare back jumping, musical chairs, stake bending, sack races, obstacle races, water races, will be held that afternoon at two o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd (he's the movie producer) who make their home in the Carmel Valley, celebrated their 36th wedding anniversary with a large cocktail party at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club this week.

A feature of the party decorations was a silver bell given to the Lloyds on their 25th anniversary by the cast of the picture, "If I were King." Ronald Colman, star of the film, who with Mrs. Colman are currently guests at Del Monte Lodge, Pebble Beach, dropped by to congratulate the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. James Townsend (Josephine Hutchinson of the movie) of Beverly Hills are spending a week at Del Monte Lodge, Pebble Beach.

Mrs. Charles G. Shedd, of Carmel, sailed last week from San Francisco aboard the luxury liner S.S. President Wilson for a two month cruise to the Orient. Mrs. Shedd will visit Manila, Hong Kong, Kobe and Yokohama. While in Japan she plans to take a 16 day tour of Tokyo, Kamakura, Hakone, Atami, Hiroshima and other great cities of that country.

On her return trip Mrs. Shedd will stay in Honolulu for an undetermined length of time while she visits friends in the Islands.

The Phinney-McGinnis Travel Service planned Mrs. Shedd's itinerary and tour in Japan.

In the past two weeks, the Youth Fellowship of the Church of the Wayfarer has continued its diversified and active summer program. On July 10, two weeks ago, the members were presented with a talk by Dr. W.W. Robbins, head of the Botany Department of the University of California at Davis. Dr. Robbins, who recently toured South America under the auspices of the United States Department of Agriculture, spoke on the general conditions in the Latin American countries and then showed some select slides from the group of over a thousand which he took. Following this meeting the entire group was entertained by a party at the home of Barbara Teschke.

The group resumed its summer discussion series last Sunday night with a timely talk on the Atlantic Pact. The group discussion was led by Jan Mastin who pointed out the great benefits of the Pact as well as its major drawbacks. The members of the Fellowship were then entertained at the home of Jean Olson, a Stephens University student who is spending the summer in Carmel.

Mary Rodin and Betsy Taves of Carmel were hostesses at a surprise personal shower for Miss Jacque Stuart, whose wedding is planned for August 14th, on last Thursday, at the home of Mrs. Louis Allaire in Carmel Valley.

Among those who joined in the evening festivities were Mrs. Johnson, mother of the bride-to-be, Mrs. P.A. McCreery, Mrs. Louis Allaire, Mrs. R. Buchanan, Mrs. Ted Hare, Mrs. Steve Jones, Miss Susan Alex, Miss Ellen Leeds, and the hostesses, Miss Rodin and Miss Taves.

Miss Stuart and her fiancé, Don Wells of Salinas, will be married next month on the Frank A. Johnson ranch in Chualar Canyon.

Doin's An' Stuff

JANET RICHMAN ARNOLD

The opening of the new Rancho Del Monte Country Club brought out people by the hundreds. The parked cars stretched down to the main highway (or what we hopefully expect to be the main highway). It was a lovely day and the new club nestled in the hills under the oak trees reflected the natural beauty of the setting at every turn of the head. Architecturally it appears to be a perfect mating of nature and man's ingenuity. "Horizons Unlimited" a newly formed theatre group whose aim it is to develop local talent for stage, radio and television provided the entertainment in conjunction with a fashion showing of the stunning designs by Suzanne Alex. The fashion show cleverly commented by Miss Worthington, brought memories of Paris. The sense of style fabric, design and color were all reminiscent of the best shows at the best houses in Paris. Until recently fashion as big business has been confined almost entirely to the East Coast. It is interesting to see a designer like Suzanne working in the West and it is to be hoped that she stays here. The show which followed was amusing. In "The Aquawades Revue" the beautifully curved Marion Heatherly led her assistants Carol Price, Joanne Freeman, Janet Schaller and Beverly Gilhus in an effective water ballet. Marion Heatherly is the swim teacher at The Carmel Valley Inn. The three Westmaires, Holt Wood, Art Schumacher and Hank Mc Cord delivered some delightful ditties. Millie Tice, the star, did a Cleo by the Sea number. Tommie and Pat Ford, the Valley's most talented sisters made the props and did a song apiece. John Arthur did a sinuous temple dance straight from Bali where he learned how to move his muscles different ways all at once. Joanne Smith Cassie and Boots Parsons, Billie Moore, Bob Bell, Len Crosby, and Mike Donahan were the other entertainers who helped make the show a success.

Mr. and Mrs. A.T. Shand, Miss Camilla Daniels and Mrs. C.F. Stealy were guests of Miss Edith Chilver at Holman's Saturday. Johnnie played the piano before the Christening of the new play room, and the christening turned into dancing and a movie. The movies to be shown will be revivals mainly. Next week is Rudolf Valentino in "The Son of the Sheik." Hurry, hurry, you medium-aged matrons and recapture a thrill from the past.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Moore entertained Dr. and Mrs. Hayes, Dr. and Howard Miles, Dr. and Mrs. Geo. Lund and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Blout at their summer valley home last week.

There was a party for Mrs. Norman Marshall before she left to vacation with her parents in the South. Rumor, ugly rumor, hath had it that the Marshalls were deserting the valley but this has been stoutly denied by Mr. Marshall, the postmaster for Robles Del Rio.

Meet Mr. and Mrs. Charles of The Carousel. They were formerly at Le Valois on Madison Ave. in New York. Mr. Charles has special plans for French food... chicken estragon will be the specialty of the house. There may be a family night too so that the children can come and be exposed to the delights of French cooking. It's never too young to learn to appreciate good food. Sunday evening the place was jumping with guests and at one time seven convertible Fords were lined up side by side. Among the many guests were Jack Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baum, Vi Bellmans, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Marrs, Mayor Godwin of Carmel, the F.W. Goss and D. Bradburn's

The Carmel Valley Community Chapel has received its first contributions brought in by the workers of Treasurer General Ernest Dawley, who has mapped out a camp-sign which will cover the valley. There will be a food sale Tuesday at The Bean Pot. For information, please call Mrs. Harriet Koch 6-J-11

The Teenagers are planning a dance. The Board met Sunday evening to consider ways to raise money. The Board consists of nine teenagers and seven adults. They need to raise money and any ideas would be heard with great interest. It has been suggested that perhaps the teenager club might better be a BOYS club, but this would be up to the group to decide. It would be interesting to have a vote of members taken and see how the majority feels about this.

If the club is to grow and be more than just an excuse for weekly social get-togethers, it must hang together, and hold the support of the whole community, parents, members and non-parents.

CHEF'S SPECIAL

KITCHEN CAPERS
by Nick Lovelace.

So you thought you had done with old Nick, did you? No, I've been on a vacation and doing a little radio work too. The vacation was back East and brother you can have that part of the country. Hot — Hundreds of people dying of it every day — you can't sleep at night. Now I know I'm a confirmed Carmelite when the fog and overcast sky looks good. Two guest appearances on the radio and one on television were fun. For the television show they had Lovelace bake a cake, believe it or not.

Others on the program prepared the rest of the meal but we all had to sit down and eat everything we made. Alas! Gone are the days when a cooking authority could just write directions or voice them over the air. If they were not all they were supposed to be you did not have to prove that you could take your own medicine but television is changing all that. In fact TV is changing so many things back East where it had really taken hold. I hate to think what it may do to our Carmel way of life one of these days. It's way behind all over the West so maybe we won't be bothered so soon.

Here is the cake as it was demonstrated on television:

CALIFORNIA SPICE CAKE

You will need:

1-3/4 cups of cake flour (sift before measuring)

1 cup of sugar 2 eggs

1/2 cup of soft butter

1/2 cup of orange juice

1/2 tsp. of salt

2 1/2 tps. Royal baking power

1 tsp. vanilla; 1 tsp. cinnamon

1/2 tsp. cloves

Resift the flour with the sugar. Add the butter, eggs, orange juice, salt, baking power, vanilla and spices Beat vigorously with a rotary beater for two or three minutes. Bake in two 8 in. layer pans at 350 for 1/2 hour.

FROSTING

2 tps. grated orange rind

6 tps. orange juice

3 tps. butter

1/4 tsp. salt

4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar

2 ounces Bakers unsweetened chocolate, melted

2 tps. scalded cream

Put orange rind in the orange juice Cream butter and salt, add 1/2 cup sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add melted chocolate and blend. Add remaining sugar alternately with orange juice, beating until smooth. Add hot cream and beat well, until right to spread.

Siemsen, Manager of Del Monte Lodge, Mrs. Robert Kasper, San Francisco interior decorator who has recently completed the decoration of the three new guest room units at the Lodge; and John Boit Morse, president of the Del Monte Properties Company. They are seen at the "preview" of the new rooms held in one of the suites last week for a limited group of hotel owners and newspaper representatives.

Press Preview
Of Del Monte
Lodge Room

The new guest room units at Del Monte Lodge, Pebble Beach, were "previewed" by a group of press and hotel representatives last week.

Mrs. Robert Kasper of San Francisco, who is responsible for the smart interiors, was on hand to greet the guests as was John B. Morse, president of the Del Monte Properties Company, and Herbert H.P. Siemsen, manager of the Lodge.

The three guest room units, consisting of 26 rooms and suites, an enlarged and improved kitchen and bakery are the first of a long-range program of new projects to be opened.

The architect for the new projects is Gardner A. Dailey, San Francisco, who is working in association with Skidmore, Owings and Merrill of Chicago.

The three new buildings just completed are in front of and to the left and right of the Lodge, toward the ocean. They are two-story buildings and are entirely guest rooms. All the rooms should properly be termed a room and a half as there is a large sitting room in each with a sleeping alcove, a separate dressing room and bath. All the rooms have an ocean view.

Next to be completed will be The Beach Club, which is being enlarged and remodeled. A modern kitchen is being installed and a dining room capable of handling about 150 people for dinner dancing is being built. A soda fountain and lunch counter for children has been opened.

The office building and shopping center being constructed in the parking area across from the Lodge, will provide new quarters for the company's general offices, and a number of smart shops. The latter will be occupied by well known merchandisers of sports wear and other apparel, sporting goods, photographic shop, drugs, confections and so forth. It is expected that this building, to be known as the Arcade, will be open about the end of September.

A new, modern laundry, which is the last word in its field, is just now starting operations in the Pacific Grove area. The investment in the laundry building and equipment will total in the vicinity of $250,000.

The Curtain Rises

12th annual BACH FESTIVAL

ANOTHER BRILLIANT PERFORMANCE

A canopy of stars looked down upon Carmel on Monday night, the heavens intensified their silvery glitter, hundreds of men and women stood in awed silence before Sunset School as the first liquid notes of the trumpets sounded, heralding the opening of the 1949 Carmel Bach Festival.

There was not a whisper until the last note sounded and then softly, softly, the audience filed into the Auditorium. Friends from near and far smiled greetings, many had not seen one another since last year's Festival, but there was very little talking. One does not greet the music of Bach with laughter, his grandeur and beauty can only be absorbed in silence...

The white surpliced choristers appear, and the orchestra, and the well beloved Gastone Usigli mounts the podium. Back-stage, two great and gracious ladies smile, one at the other, Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous hear the opening notes of the majestic Gloria in excelsis Deo from the Mass in B Minor...their 12th annual Bach Festival is underway.

From the Chorales, which opened the program, to the final presentation, Ralph Isbell's magnificent performance of Cantata 56, Ich will den Kreuzstab gerne tragen, it was a program of unparalleled brilliance and glitter.

Mid-week in the Festival, the Spectator regrets that due to press deadlines we can not offer day to day reviews, but may we say, Hail to the Festival, its great conductor, the entire personnel and to the founders of whom we are so proud.

CARMEL REVISITED

Festival Week! Ocean Avenue transformed into a miniature Fifth Avenue Easter Parade! Our tiny shops, brim full of distinctive gifts and fashions, crowded to overflowing! Our restaurants, each one unique, serving myriads of visitors at all hours. "Natives" pointing the way to the Mission, the All Saints Church, the Church of the Wayfarer...the Art Association, the Post Office, the Sunset Auditorium, the Woman's Club. Visitors on the beach in the sunny hours...hearing the world's great music each night, and finally going to rest in our hotels, guest houses and private homes. It is Bach Festival Week and Carmel's famed hospitality reaches its height!

When, on Sunday, the Festival of 1949 comes to a close and the exodus starts, to each and every departing visitor the SPECTATOR says "Happy Landings" and come back, surely next year for Festival Week, if not before, our welcome will await you.

Among the artists and special patrons of the Festival registered at Carmel Hotels are:

At Pine Inn: Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gessler, Mr. Gessler is music critic of the Oakland Tribune; Russell Horton, featured tenor soloist of the Festival and Mrs. Horton; Maxim Schapiro, piano soloist and Mrs. Schapiro; Bob Hagan of the San Francisco Chronicle and Mrs. Hagan. Also, here to attend the Festival: John M. Shoenberg from St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Corder from Alameda; Mrs. D.A. Eyre and daughters; Mr. and Mrs. Bliss Herman; Mr. and Mrs. Leland W. Cutler, Jr., all from San Francisco, and Mrs. Joseph Basile from San Jose.

At La Playa: Mr. and Mrs. S. Hanson, Stockton; Mr. and Mrs. Curt Lion and daughter, Klamath Falls, Ore; Mr. and Mrs. F.E. Stohl, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Ryone, Los Angeles; Miss Helen Swim, Pocatello, Ida; Miss Darlene Seeley, Pocatello, Ida; Mr. and Mrs. A.H. Moffitt, Alameda; Miss Betty Fisher, Seattle, Wash; Miss Margaret Hambricht, Seattle, Wash; Miss Janice Greenhood, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Chiquone, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mueller, Berkeley; Mrs. Hans Jordan, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. F.C. Van Deimse, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. V.F. Mueller, Phoenix, Ariz; Miss Guida De Luca, San Francisco; Miss Gilda DeMartini, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. M.L. Stewart, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. R.C. McLaren, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. C.R. Drake, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Van Orden, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Fried and Miss Muriel Maxwell.

Pictured above from a postcard submitted to the SPECTATOR by Mrs. Carl Nuetzel, of Carmel, is the famous St. Thomas Church and School in Leipzig, Germany, at which Johann Sebastian Bach was organist and cantor during the years 1723-1750. In Leipzig, Bach was distinguished for the Oratorios, Passions, Masses and Cantatas.

Among the group pictured above during an evening of relaxation at Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown's "Stonehouse" are Jean Kupp, violinist; Ronald Gerst, contrabass; Frank Sabin, clarinet; Elizabeth Bell, viola; Nannette Levi, who is playing for the group; and her fiancé, Bill Harry, violincellist. The Stonehouse has been "unofficial headquarters" for many Bach Festival participants for four years. This year the City Council made an exception regarding the ordinance prohibiting more than three paying guests, in order to accommodate the artists.

Another Award For Kathie

Miss Kathie von Meier, daughter of Mrs. Julian von Meier of Carmel, and recent graduate of Carmel High School, received an unexpected gift for her 17th birthday on July 17th, when she was notified that her application had been awarded 5th place in the Elks National Foundation Scholarship Awards. Kathie's entry was one of the 20 chosen by the State committee to compete in the National finals. Out of the 233 entries, awards were made to 49 girls and boys as the nation's most valuable students, with the top award in the girl's division being $800. Kathie's 5th place award amounted to $300., and was based on her accomplishments in the fields of scholarship, civic service, social, athletic, dramatic, journalistic and artistic abilities. Her entry required her to list her accomplishments, press clippings, examples of activities, letters of recommendations and scholastic records for four years of high school. Kathie's letters were written by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, of the Church of the Wayfarer, Mr. Howard Timbers, of the Carmel Press; Mr. Jack Dougherty, of Casa Munras; Mrs. Elise Beaton and Mr. Stuart Mitchell of Carmel High School, and Mr. Dan Searle, of the Monterey Elks Lodge.

Kathie has already won a $300. Levi Strauss scholarship from the University of California, and a $100. award from the local Soroptimist Club. She has registered for entrance in the fall as a freshman at the University of California, where she will major in journalism and public relations.

During her senior year at Carmel High, Kathie served as senior class president, editor of the El Padre Annual, played the leading role in "Jane Eyre," the senior play, earned her Block "C" and star in girl's athletics, and placed second in scholarship with an "A" average.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Miss Von Meier is working on the staff of the SPECTATOR this summer. We congratulate her on her scholastic accomplishments, but her latest honor comes as no surprise to those of us who have had the opportunity to work with her. Her future looks as bright as her present and past.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF

DROP CHARGES

A superior court ruling that "insufficient evidence" was brought out in the preliminary hearing of Jack D. Green, Carmel, brought about the dropping of a grand theft charge against him. He remains under a misdemeanor charge of operating as a real estate broker without a license.

He was arraigned on the grand theft charge May 25 and his preliminary hearing was held June 10. He was charged with obtaining money fraudulently through reported loan activities.

NIELSEN RE-ELECTED

Harold Nielsen was re-elected chairman of the Carmel Unified School board during an election which followed the regular meeting of the board last week.

TO HONOR GRIFFIN

Colonel Allen Griffin, publisher of the Monterey Peninsula Herald, who started the ball rolling for elimination of toll charges on telephone calls between Monterey Peninsula communities, will be honored next Monday at 7:30 p.m. at a dinner in the Del Monte Lodge. Wesley W. Kergan, chairman of the public utilities committee of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, in commenting on the fact that toll charges will be dropped at the end of the month, paid tribute to Colonel Griffin's efforts, which were taken up and reinforced by the Chamber of Commerce and peninsula communities. Colonel Griffin will be guest and only speaker at the dinner. Mr. Kergan asks those who have been invited to make their reservations by tomorrow by contacting the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 489, Monterey.

ROME SOLD

"Geranium Gate" has been sold by the Estate of Louis Scott Beamer, according to Previews Inc. the National Real Estate Clearing House, marketing agents. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Groves, at present residents of Hong Kong, British Crown Colony, purchased the property for a reported price of $30,000. Gladys Kingsland Dixon, Carmel Broker, handled the long distance transaction representing both buyer and seller.

The seven room one and one-half story Mediterranean residence is situated on Scenic Drive. The property was purchased completely furnished.

Mr. Groves is general manager of the American Express Company in Hong Kong. He and Mrs. Groves plan to move into their new home in the near future.

FLY CASTER

Bringing honor to Carmel, Timothy McCormick, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Edward W. McCormick, was winner of third prize in the fly casting competition of the Salinas Sportsmans Barbeque.

Sixteen year old Timothy, who attends Tamalpais School, San Rafael, was born in London. His winning cast was 105 feet, and he is a student of Carmel's noted sportsman, William Bayard Sturgis.

KIWANS MEETING

Thomas J. Elston, Jr., AIA, and Joseph Olgardt, manager of the Centennial Village, were speakers at last week's meeting of the Carmel Kiwanis Club in the La Ribera Hotel. Mr. Elston spoke on the "advantages of having an architect supervise the construction of the home," while Mr. Olgardt told how the Centennial Village, which will be erected at the fairgrounds, will be strictly a Monterey Peninsula affair. All concessions at the site will be run by various local service clubs, he said.

The SPECTRE

by Carl Andsand.

Everyone seems to be afraid of me for some reason or other. It is understandable that lesser fry are in awe of my many accomplishments over the past three-score years, but I certainly was surprised recently when a polished Bach Festival singer took to his heels as I approached him.

I was taking my usual midnight walk the other evening and heard a beautiful baritone voice issuing from an automobile which stopped momentarily at a dark corner near the beach. As the driver shifted gears I stepped out into the glare of his headlights.

The singing stopped, the car jumped away with a roar that rocked the nearby trees, and I stood there shaking my head sorrowfully. What perplexed me was that I couldn't imagine how the singer (obviously, a soloist) was going to be able to stand up before the massive Bach Festival audience when he ran like a frightened rabbit before one person.

Realtors Would Change Guest House Law

The Carmel Board of Realtors discussed the much-discussed city ordinance limiting three paying guests to a house last week in regular meeting, and voted unanimously for "the present law to be rescinded and replaced by a fair and reasonable act." It is understood that action is getting underway for allowing guest house owners to take in two paying guests per room.

The realtors also postponed their scheduled Aug. 5 date for a public hearing at the City Council on the subject of rent decontrol. Corum Jackson explained the method followed by Monterey and Pacific Grove, and said decontrol in Carmel should tie in with the entire peninsula. The hearing is expected to be held some time following the Monterey and Pacific Grove hearings.

Wedding Plans

On Sunday, July 31st, Martha Stender, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Stender of Carmel Highlands, will be married to Fred H. Fraser of Carmel, at the Church of the Wayfarer at one o'clock. Dr. K. Fillmore Gray officiating.

Miss Stender is a graduate of Carmel High School and at present operates the vari-typer and is responsible for the unique typesetting of the Spectator.

Mr. Fraser is a native of Los Angeles. During World War II he served as a Captain in the U.S. Army in the South Pacific Theatre. At present he is an officer of the Peninsula Food Products Corporation located in Monterey.

Following a wedding trip, (destination secret) the newlyweds will live in Pacific Grove.

Wouldn't you like to keep change handy for a tip, a phone call, or some other emergency? Now, you can do it without fumbling in your wallet or bag by using the handy little coin holder which is being displayed in the window of the LITTLE LEATHER SHOP on Dolores and Seventh. These gadgets are far from being an ordinary coin holder; in fact, this handy necessity can double as a lapel pin or a clip for your bag. Attractive key holders and detachable glove holders are among the other handy items which you will find when you stop in at the LITTLE LEATHER SHOP. Remember, this shop always features Ganet of California Saddle Leather bags in beautiful natural tones as well as in colors. The bags are made in pouch styles, over-the-shoulder type, and the handy small-size envelope purse.

For cool and quiet rooms or apartments by the day, visit the MCPHILLIPS HOTEL on San Carlos and Fifth in Carmel. A constant advantage is its ideal location; close to the bus depot, the Carmel shops, the city tennis courts, and all eating places in Carmel, not to slight the beautiful Carmel Beach.

You will always be assured of receiving fine and concientious service when you stay and play in Carmel at the MCPHILLIPS HOTEL.

When you are looking for comfort in the Carmel style and for a fine room with housekeeping facilities; you are looking for the MONTE VERDE APARTMENTS, located close to the beach on Ocean and Monte Verde. The lovely gardens which surround the apartments add even more to its loveliness and quiet simplicity. To enjoy Carmel at its best and Carmel living as well, you'll want to stay at the MONTE VERDE APARTMENTS.

Something new has been added for the summer at the VILLAGE BOOK SHOP; and it's just the thing to help you keep those vacation-minded tots busy and happy. What? Why, a bigger and better display of wonderful children's books. You'll find many bargains among these fine books, most of which are being featured at only 39¢.

Also found at the VILLAGE BOOK SHOP is an attractive window display honoring the Bach Festival. Remember, you'll find the children's book display and the gorgeous window of shining trumpets and enjoyable music books at "the sign of the griffin," the VILLAGE BOOK-SHOP on Ocean Avenue between San Carlos and Dolores.

The DOLORES GROCERY on Dolores between Ocean and Seventh is now carrying what is probably one of the most complete dairy product lines on the entire peninsula, none other than Marin-Dell. Where else on the Peninsula could you find pints of milk or half pints of 1/2 and 1/2? No place but at the Dolores Grocery. Pints of Marin-Dell milk are featured at 14¢ while quarts of milk and fat free skim milk are 19¢. The Marin-Dell products also include Choco-Malt Drink, and both table and pastry cream.

Don't forget these products and a host of other fine lines of food plus Carmel Valley fruits, fresh daily at the DOLORES GROCERY in Carmel.

Shoes and Bags and beautiful sarong dresses, all at KRAMERS HOUSE FOR WOMEN. Aside from their lovely low-heeled sandals and suede elfin shoes, KRAMERS is now having a special sale on elfies, the ideal soft lounging shoe for home and country wear. "Elfies" have a flat crepe sole and come in soft red, green, and fawn. These cute little shoes with a pointed ankle cuff are selling now for only $4.00.

Another of the special sale features at KRAMERS is a beautiful collection of straw and linen bags which are priced at only $2.95. These pouch style bags have a linen draw string top and a woven straw base. Stop in now at KRAMERS, next to the library, and take advantage of these wonderful July offers, and while you're there, see the new Kamehameha 2 piece sarong dresses of cotton or rayon in true Hawaiian prints.

John Wibby, above, who operates the dining room at Whitney's, has a collection of about 40 hats that he tries on now and then for the amusement of his patrons. They must be amused because they keep sending him different hats every week. Wibby first came to Carmel with the Navy, but only got to stay two days before going overseas. He was in the Navy about three years - an aviation ordinance and gunnery officer in the Pacific - and was stationed after the war at the Monterey Naval Auxiliary Air Base. Wibby says he just had to stay on the Peninsula. He sold cars for awhile, and two years ago decided to go into the restaurant business. He had a partner, Gordon Cubbison, who has since sold out and joined the Army. Wibby specializes in charcoal broiler menus: steaks, chops, fried chicken, abalone and prawns. Serving lunch and dinner, Wibby keeps 12 or 14 items on his menus and provides change of pace for his many regular customers. Born in Toronto 35 years ago, Wibby says he wandered to Detroit when he was about three months old, living there most of his life before joining the Navy. You aren't really living though, if you don't live in Carmel, he says.

California State Fair

ADMISSION LOWERED

Sacramento - Admission price to the California State Fair, Sept. 1-12, has been reduced 10 cents from 60 cents to 50 cents, including tax.

The program this year will include the Farm Machinery Show, the $1,000 Spotted Poland China Futurity, a nightly horse show, agricultural displays, the annual Parade of Progress and celebration of the Gold Rush Centennial. This year's fair will be California's 90th.

CARMEL CONTESTANTS

Two students from the Carmel Art Institute will compete in the art contest at this year's California State Fair, in Sacramento, September 1 through 11, for $3,455 offered for the best paintings and pictures of "History and Romance of California."

Entries announced by John Cunningham, art instructor, are: Bertram Bordewick, oil; James L. Cloward, oil. The students will be competing in the Private Art School Class.

LOST ART

The seeming lost domestic art of bread baking will be revived at the California State Fair in Sacramento, September 1 through 11.

A welcome sign is up for the return of a once famous art to the State Fair. Whether it is white, whole wheat, raisin, or nut bread, it makes no difference, for every type may be entered in class competition at the Home Economics exhibit in the Woman's Building. Moreover, coffee cake, parker house rolls, cinnamon rolls, corn bread, and baking powder biscuits may be entered for cash premiums. To many of the younger generation of California, a loaf of home baked bread may be as rare a sight as a cow is to youngsters of New York City, so come Fair time, they will have the opportunity to gaze upon this once familiar staple of the American home.

Other new classes in competition are: pickles and relish, pies, cakes, cookies, and candy.

Handcrafts and needlework - bedroom linen, quilts, child and infant apparel, dining room linen, living room fancy work, and wearing apparel for the housewife - will also be displayed in the Home Economics Show.

Exhibitors will be competing for a total of $2500 in cash awards in all classes of the Food Preparation and Hand Crafts Show, which returns to the Woman's Building where one of the greatest displays of domestic skills of any State Fair will be witnessed by the thousands of visitors at the Annual Parade of Progress of 1949.

Your CONGRESSMAN REPORTS

Ernest K. Bramblett, M.C.

One of the most important duties of the United States Congress is control of the public purse strings. All appropriations bills must originate in the House of Representatives; so must tax bills. Our founding forefathers foresaw that the power to tax is the power to destroy, and how the people's money is to be spent is of serious importance. Congress should read, that constitution occasionally.

I regret the movement that developed in Congress to pass all appropriation bills willy nilly and then direct President Truman to make a five to ten per cent reduction wherever and whenever he pleases. That is an abject surrender by Congress of the public purse. While sponsors of the resolution may be well intended, I doubt they have given too much thought to the consequences of such action.

Congress has the right and duty to examine every appropriation request and decide upon final amounts. Those who would give this to the President, should never complain about encroachment of the executive on the legislative authority.

I have no doubt the President will approve a bill to abolish the Swan Island quarantine station in the Caribbean Sea. It already has passed both branches of Congress. Neither offered opposition seriously. I was glad to lend my efforts in putting the measure through. A possible outbreak of foot and mouth disease from this station might have been disastrous to our agricultural economy.

Cotton quota legislation has been occupying a lot of my time on the House Agricultural Committee. While we do not raise cotton in the 11th district, we do enjoy financial benefits of trade with the San Joaquin Valley area which does. Legislation which will keep California from suffering a drastic acreage cut in the near future is of utmost importance, I think, as it would affect industry which is giving employment to thousands of our people.

Household AMMONIA

You can usually remove grease spots from wallpaper with a paste made of cornstarch, talcum powder or white cornmeal and carbon tetrachloride. Spread paste over spot, brush off when dry, and repeat until stain disappears.

To remove burnt food from your gas oven, wet a clean piece of cheesecloth with household ammonia; place this wet cloth over part of the range to be cleaned, top, oven bottom or broiler pan. Let cloth remain until it is thoroughly dry, then wash range part with hot soapy water.

More Action On Gate Way

A.B. Jacobsen, chairman of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors, was named head of the Carmel Valley Gateway Park Committee Monday during the first meeting of the 15-man group in Salinas. The five public members - Gunnar Norberg, Dr. A.L. Van Meter, Corum Jackson, Fred Farr and Stanley Peddar - have been instructed by Mr. Jacobsen to work out a plan for turning the intersection of Carmel Valley Road and Route 1 into a public parkway.

The action follows a year long controversy over the earl-while C-1 zoning at the entrance to the valley. The committee is composed mainly of members of Carmel Unincorporated, the association which fought commercialization for the past several months.

Mr. Jacobsen asked the five men to come back with some kind of a plan for acquiring the land. He requested an indication of how much land would be necessary and how it could be turned into a park.

The five will submit the plan at the next meeting of the committee for a discussion of ways and means to bring it into effect. The next Salinas meeting will be announced later by Mr. Jacobsen.
